

Fran McDonald IK Queen, Wills "Knight Of Night", Nortman "Spur of Moment"

Fran McDonald, Klaus Wills and Hazel Nortman were honored at the Spur-Knight mixer held in the girls' gym Jan. 9. During the intermission it was revealed that Miss McDonald was Queen of the Intercollegiate Knights, Wills was "Knight of the Night," and Miss Nortman was "Spur of the Moment."

Miss McDonald, the first Royal Queen to be chosen by the Log Chapter of Intercollegiate Knights, is a Spur, Tri Delt and sophomore music major. As Queen she will go to Denver, Colo., this spring to compete in the national Intercollegiate Knight contest.

Miss McDonald, Ann Albertson, Marilyn Holt and Nancy Campbell, the four candidates, were escorted by Bob Dunbar, Fred Deal, Jack Higgins and Chuck Comeau respectively. Jeff Smith announced the selection of the Queen, and Miss McDonald was presented the royal robe, a garland of pink flowers, and a rhinestone crown. Randy Smith placed the crown on her head and officially proclaimed Miss McDonald the first Queen of the Log Chapter.

Following the coronation, Barbara Keevil, junior advisor of Spurs, presented Klaus Wills a set of cuff links and a plaque with his name engraved on it. "Knight of the Night" is chosen on the basis of outstanding service given the group and campus during the year. This year the final selection was difficult to make, and Stuart McKenzie was given special recognition for his fine record of service to the school.

Randy Smith, Duke of the Knights, gave Miss Nortman the traditional Spur axe and a gold spur. Miss Nortman, president of the Spurs, received this great honor because of her service to the group.

Chairmen for the mixer were Elaine Klein, Sara Johnson and Chuck Comeau. The Spurs and Knights decorated the gym with their traditional colors, maroon and white.

CPS Debate Squad Will Invade SPC

The CPS debate squad will travel to Seattle Pacific College Jan. 16 and 17 for an inter-collegiate debate tournament. Teaming up for debate will be Pat Wane and Winnie Hertzog, Betty Delo and Elaine Klein, Elaine Perdue and Karen Hansen, Sharon Deutschman and Marcia Olsbach, John Sherwood and Jinx Rector, Dick Fritts and Peter Rippe, James Green and Paul Schafer, and John Phelps and Bob Kerr.

Also participating will be Bob Forman, David Owen, Jerome Thorpe, Leonard Johnson, Charles Comeau, Jackie Catton, Rena Bott, Charles Murray, Julie Wilson, Donna Nall, and Frank Russell.

Four Juveniles Steal Jones Gum Machine

There is no longer a penny gum machine in the lower hall of Jones. No, it wasn't broken, it wasn't removed by the janitor, it wasn't misplaced behind the coke machine. It was stolen by three youths about 8:30 p. m. Sunday, Jan. 4.

Four CPS students witnessed the theft. When they saw three boys running from Jones Hall to the Music Building parking lot, they became suspicious. One of the witnesses, Doug Brown, noticed a round bulge under the coat of the largest boy. Hearing the jingle of coins, Brown concluded that the boys had taken the gum machine.

The four witnesses chased the thieves, presumed to be high school students, to the parking lot where they climbed into a 1950 maroon Ford and drove down Union. Brown got the license number of the car and telephoned the police. Investigating the crime, two plain-clothes men got a description of the boys and determined that the youths had entered Jones Hall through an unlocked door.

SORORITY RUSH DATES ANNOUNCED

CPS Panhellenic has announced the sorority spring rush dates as follows: February 15, 17 and 18.

Rush registration begins today at 1:00, and continues through Tuesday, Jan. 20 at 4:00.

Rushes may register in the office of the Dean of Women, where they will receive detailed rush information.

ROSS BARBOUR, Don Barbour, Bob Flanigan and Ken Alders, better known as The Four Freshmen, entertained before 1,200 fans last Wednesday evening at the Fieldhouse.

1200 Attend Four Freshmen Appearance in Fieldhouse

"Organized confusion," the Four Freshmen's description of their show, was presented to an audience of about 1,200 in the Fieldhouse 7:30, Wednesday, Jan. 7. The Four Freshmen—Ross Barbour, Don Barbour, Bob Flanigan and Ken Albers—filled their two-hour program with humorous antics, lilting ballads, loud jazz and sentimental songs.

Bob Flanigan, playing the trombone and the bass viol, or as he termed it, a "violin with hormones," kept the audience laughing as he clowning through such antics as bull fighting and singing songs written by Alfred E. Newman. Don Barbour, the only member of the quartet playing just one instrument, was featured in guitar solos ranging from the loud "Malaya" to the melancholy "Funny Valentine." Ken Alber, playing trumpet, bass viol and mellophone, is the only blond in the group. His rendition of "Them There Eyes" on the mellophone, was enthusiastically received by the crowd. The emcee of the show, Ross Barbour, playing the drums and the trumpet, kept the show moving at a lively pace. Even though the Four Freshmen favorite songs are ballads, they demonstrated their versatility as they climaxed the show with "Mr. B's Blues," introduced as "an ad lib in sound and unlimited jazz."

Starting as a quartet at Butler University in Indiana, the Four Freshmen quit school after a year to enter show business and have been singing and playing professionally ever since. They give Stan Kenton credit for helping them break into the record business, he persuaded Capitol Records to tape their first record.

Their tours have taken them all over the United States, and they have been to Hawaii twice. As they have traveled around the country, the quartet has had a number of exciting and unforgettable experiences. Their first big show was at the University of Texas before an audience of 10,000. The Four Freshmen had a true case of the "butterflies" when they appeared in Hollywood Bowl, and they were really thrilled when they got to perform in Carnegie Hall in New York. One of their most embarrassing experiences occurred while they were playing in St. Louis. Ken Alber got a bloody nose on stage. They were in front of an audience of 10,000, with such big names as Nat King Cole and June Christy.

During the 10 years they have been in show business, the Four Freshmen have been very busy.

They were in "Rich, Young and Pretty," an M-G-M production starring Vic Damone and Jane Powell. Their voices were on the soundtrack of "Lucy Gallant." "Day by Day" is their biggest selling single record and "Five Trombones" their biggest L-P. "Freshmen Favorites" is the title of their latest L-P, which was released Jan. 5. By winning almost every major popularity poll in the past four or five years the Four Freshmen proved they are a well known and well liked group.

As the Four Freshmen prefer college performances to night club work, they usually appear before large audiences. Their work keeps them on the road about eight months of the year. Last June they went to Hawaii, and in July and August they returned to the states to play for ballrooms. They resumed their college shows in September, and traveled with Dave Brubeck and Maynard Ferguson in October and November. After they appeared at CPS they played at Bremerton before starting south to play for colleges in Pasadena, Long Beach, Berkeley and Stockton. March 15, 1959 they are scheduled to appear on a TV spectacular along with such names as Julie London, Edgar Bergen, Charlie McCarthy and George Sanders.

The Four Freshmen are all married, and are all about the same age—as Ross Barbour said, "just past 30." Between the four families there are nine children. Each member of the quartet leaves his wife and children home while he is on tour. Ken Alber's family lives in New Jersey, and the other families live in Los Angeles.

"Jinks" Rector arranged the appearance of the Four Freshmen through their agent, the General Artist Corporation. Given complete authority by Central Board, he was in charge of the entire presentation.

HEAR THIS . . .

Dear Editor:
On the front page of The Trail, Dec. 16, you ran a small article containing the names of seniors who had been named to the Who's Who Among Students in American Universities and Colleges. This item contained exactly 103 words, 78 of those words being the names of the students. This list occupied a column of three inches. Compare this to the space covered by the article concerning the candidates for IK queen, which was 18 inches, and that of the "Athletes No Longer Dumb . . .", eight and one-half inches.

We do not deny the significance of events recorded in the other two named articles, we only question the relative proportions. A student who is named to Who's Who is awarded recognition for superior work, both academic and extra-curricular, through his entire college career. There was, however, no mention in your article as to the nature of this honor or why and how these students were chosen. A glance at the front page of the December issue would lead one to question the relative degrees of importance of various facets of student life at the College of Puget Sound. We ask for a re-evaluation.

Respectfully,
ELAINE KLEIN,
TELE BOVENG.

veteran of the Battle of the Graduate Record Exam

After that long "vacation" taken at the full gallop, it was a relief to get back to the regular schedule and all those professors who suffer from the illusion that their classes represent the only courses a student is taking. There is something wonderful to behold in the innocence of the instructor who brazenly assigns five hundred pages to be read during vacation. There is something equally wonderful to behold in the student who manages somehow to complete four or five such assignments in the last two days of vacation.

We had a very nice Christmas: I have the cancelled checks to prove it. Mrs. T., who coyly referred to the pieces of odd change she took from my desk drawer all year as "Christmas money," ran amok. For her, the suspense of waiting for me to open my packages was unbearable, and five days before Christmas, I had been forced to open nine gift packages.

Then there was the traditional excursion into the vast interior of the ladies-wear department, which is always something of an education. I hope I live to see the day when ladies-wear departments are organized to include a card-catalogue system such as the libraries now have.

The only person I talked to who wasn't completely satisfied with his Christmas presents was Mr. Jim Cline. He did not receive either the pocket derringer or the sword-cane which he had hinted would be much appreciated. Just that much of a disappointment wouldn't have been so bad, but he also did not receive the black silk cape for which he had specifically asked.

With Christmas a thing of the past, New Year's Eve loomed as another major economic hurdle. Mrs. T. first wanted to go to Seattle, then to Portland, but the promise of a new dress finally swayed her to decide in favor of a local party. Of course, a new dress demands a new pair of shoes and a new evening bag, and new jewelry, etc. At the last minute, the new dress did not fit, and she was humiliated by having to wear an "old" dress which she had worn only once before. I went in the charcoal suit which I had bought for the freshman mixer in 1955. I couldn't complain too much because, after all, she's the one who earns the money.

One similarity between Christmas and New Year's Eve is that Christmas cards are like those midnight kisses — one seldom knows just exactly whom to greet and by whom he is being greeted. Ed Booty, John Graham and I were accused of harboring Existential attitudes when we made the rounds for seconds. One of the women in the party was overheard to remark, rather vigorously, "I don't care if she is the little girl who wore blue jeans when she lived across the street, that's a size fourteen dress she's wearing now!"

Wrestling Hits Big-Time at CPS

Competitive wrestling at the College of Puget Sound has entered the beginning of its first Varsity season. A fine schedule including many major opponents and a promising team afford Jim Nelson, wrestling coach, a bright outlook for the season.

Because the wrestling team is not governed by the Evergreen Conference, CPS has been able to schedule meets this season with such Pacific Northwest powers as the University of Washington, Washington State College and the University of Oregon.

Multnomah Athletic Club of Portland, Ore., which will compete with the Logger matmen Feb. 21, has two members of the 1956 United States Olympic Wrestling Team on their roster.

"Wrestling, although considered a minor sport, is one of the fastest growing athletic activities in the Pacific Northwest," coach Nelson stated.

The remaining 1959 Logger wrestling schedule is as follows:
Saturday, Jan. 24, 2 p. m., Oregon State College of Education, here.

Tuesday, Jan. 27, 7:30 p. m., Fort Lewis, there.

The LUCKY LOGGER

By DOUG PERKINS

The Logger tankmen looked very impressive in their 56-29 smothering of the defending Evergreen Conference UBC swimming team. The CPS frogmen shattered five pool records in the process. The much improved Logger swimmers will entertain Western Washington Vikings Jan. 21 at the CPS pool.

On the canvas side, the CPS matmen accomplished something that the University of Washington was unable to do. The Loggers scored 10 points against the mighty Oregon Ducks last Saturday afternoon. On Friday the Ducks swept every match from the Washington Huskies to take a 32-0 decision. CPS' David Cusato pinned the first Duck of the year in the third round.

Now to the slopes. On Jan. 2, the ski team traveled to Rossland, British Columbia, to participate in the 12th annual Triple I Ski Tournament. Although the CPS skiers didn't break any records, they gained the experience of competing against some of the world's finest. John Platt of UBC and Bill Stevens from Whitworth are ranked number one and two respectively in Canada. Halyard Grosvold, Asbjorn Nordheim, and Larry Simoneaus, finishing one, two, and three respectively in individual points, won the meet for Wenatchee Junior College. The tri, imported from Norway, are among Norway's best.

The College of Puget Sound should be in the same basketball class with such basketball teams as PLC, Willamette, San Jose State, Santa Clara, Portland University, Gonzaga, and even Seattle University. CPS is located in the center of a large city, therefore the large fieldhouse could be filled easily. With a winning team, the basketball hungry Tacoma fans would fill the fieldhouse.

Financially, the only time the fieldhouse is filled is during noon on Tuesdays and Thursdays when rain forces the ROTC to drill inside. The increased gate of a champion team would help support the college and build a strong athletic department.

Basketball is a full time job. The CPS athletic department is undermanned and has been crying for assistance for some time. How many colleges the same size as CPS have one man for football, basketball, teaching, and director of athletics? There are very few, if any. There just isn't enough time to develop both a winning football and basketball team by one man. It takes one man concentrating on one major sport to build a smooth functioning unit.

The axe has fallen on the lumbermen again. The Loggers have entered their annual second half slump. CPS has lost four out of their last five contests, three of the four were lost in the second half. Last Tuesday's loss to St. Martin's is a typical example. The Martins, out-rebounding the taller Loggers, put on a smooth, well balanced attack in the second half and made the easy shots count.

Man for man CPS should have beaten UBC, PLC, Whitworth, St. Martins and Eastern, but the Loggers could not muster that late game teamwork and hustle needed to win.

CPS Wins Three, Loses Two in Holiday Action

A hustling, aggressive St. Martin's quintet rallied to beat a well shuffled CPS basketball team 68-58 at the CPS fieldhouse Tuesday. The victory was a result of a 10-minute surge early in the second half when the Rangers piled up 25 points while only yielding a single field goal to the baffled Loggers.

Last Tuesday's loss ended a six-game vacation series for the Tacomans. The CPS cagers will open their Evergreen Conference campaign Friday night against Whitworth at Spokane, and will play Eastern Washington on Saturday night at Cheney.

The Rangers, turning in superior backboard work, a 24-16 edge, plus 12 out of 14 from the free throw line, surged into the lead after the Loggers had led 35-30 just after the second half started.

John Carr, the little Ranger marksman, and Fenton Drake scored 12 and eight tallies respectively during the 10-minute burst that doomed the Tacomans. After the St. Martin's five caught fire, it took the maroon and white five minutes before Hal Ness could can a field goal.

Shaking up the Logger line by means of numerous substitutions, Coach Heinrich was unable to find the winning combination. Little Bill Demick, incidentally the only starter to play the full game, was high point man for the CPS with 14 tallies.

Loggers Split Pair at Vancouver

On the weekend of Jan. 4, the Loggers traveled to Vancouver, B. C. for a two-game series with the University of British Columbia Thunderbirds.

In the first contest, the local forces lost 56-52 after again turning in a bad second period. At the beginning of the second half, after a brief Logger lead, the birds took command to pull the contest out of the fire.

The second game was a different story. CPS beat UBC 44-37 in a slow-moving contest. After the score was tied six times in the first half and three more times in the second, John Sudman hit a pair of free throws to give the Loggers a 27-26 edge. The axemen scored five more points to move out in front for good.

The Loggers, effective on their own defensive backboard, out-rebounded UBC 45-22. Sudman was top rebounder with 11 grabs. Dick Ballard and Sudman scored 11 points each to pace the Tacomans.

Entertain Oregon Quintets
On the weekend of Dec. 20, CPS entertained Linfield and Pacific University, both from Oregon. The Loggers romped over Linfield 59-49. Friday evening, Dec. 19,

On the following evening, the Pacific University Badgers pulled a very unusual play against the Loggers. With the score tied and just seconds remaining in the contest, there was a jump ball in the Badger key. The Pacific player tipped the ball through the hoop after the referee threw the ball in the air for the jump.

The game was later called no-contest. The official outcome of the contest is still undecided. But because the game is not a league game, it doesn't really matter if it remains one of the few tie games in basketball.

The Lumbermen opened the holiday series with an impressive 72-54 decision over Seattle Pacific College at the fieldhouse Dec. 16.

Chain Gang Wins Title

The Chain Gang closed out the first half of the CPS Independent bowling league by blanking the Tigers, 4-0. The Gang finished the half with a 7½-game lead over the Short Timers and the Snakes who tied for runner-up spot in the standings.

All four Chain Gang members garnered 500 series with Jim Maniatis' 189-190-178—557 leading the pin parade. George Quigley followed with a 532 total, and Steve Mackey and Alex Miller contributed 508 and 506 series, respectively. Larry Jensen's 478 was the best effort for the Tigers.

The Snakes finished the first semester in a rush, blasting the Rear Guard, 4-0, and moving into a second-place tie with the Short Timers. Les Hall paced the Serpents with a 492, while Jim Walker led the losers with 419.

A tie likewise developed for fourth place as the Short Timers dropped the Korvets, 3-1. The Korvets and Rear Guard finished with identical 15-25 records. Bill Henton showed the way for the Timers with a 193-162-192—547. Teammate Dan Oppelt shot 512. Close behind Henton was Korvet Bob Payton with a 205-172-169—546 aggregate.

The league will resume bowling Thursday, Feb. 5, when the second half will begin.

ROTC, Vets Intramural Champs

Final intramural hoop standings show ROTC and the Vets winning the "A" league and "B" respectively, each with a mark of six wins and no losses.

Kappa Sigma and MSM tied for second place in the "A" league with identical records of four wins and two losses. Todd Hall and Sigma Nu will decide fourth place when they play Feb. 10.

The Indees gave the Vets a run for their money in the "B" league, finishing just one game behind the Vets with a 5-1 mark. Kappa Sigma took third with two losses against four wins.

Bob Austin of Kappa Sigma won the individual scoring race, averaging 19 points per game. Austin hit 58 points in three games. Dan Oppelt of the Vets was next with a 16-point average, scoring 80 counters in five games.

Howie Eastman of the Indees was third highest with 85 points in six games for a 14-point average.

Intramural Swim Times Announced

Intramural swimming championships will be held Feb. 9 and 12. Dick Bidleman, intramural manager announced. Preliminaries will be held Monday, Feb. 9 at 4 p. m. Finals will be held Thursday, Feb. 12 at 4 p. m.

Three swimmers will be the minimum number to make up a team.

All swimmers are required to participate in at least two practice turnouts to be eligible to compete in the intramural meet. This will help the contestants to determine what they should swim, and will get them in better shape to swim than in past meets.

Loggers Edged 66-65; Whitworth Aide Decides

Al Rolf, the big Whitworth center, led the Whitworth Pirates to a 66-65 Evergreen Conference victory by hooking in a rebound which was in dispute to whether it was in the air before the final buzzer sounded.

With three seconds remaining and CPS leading 65-64, Whitworth's Alzina threw the ball into play to Boohn, who hurriedly tossed the ball for a field goal attempt. The ball bounced off the rim and was going out of bounds when Alzina jumped up, threw the ball to Rolf, who hooked in the winning basket.

The game was in doubt for five minutes after it ended. The officials, Gabby Williams and Clem Parberry, were uncertain as to whether Rolf's shot had been fired before the expiration of playing time. Part of the uncertainty was due to a faulty automatic buzzer. A manually operated klaxon ended the contest.

Staff Assistant Decides

After considerable delay, Sam Adams, former Whitworth athlete and assistant on the Pirate coaching staff, decided the shot was in the air before the final horn.

With Washburn connecting for seven out of his first eight tries and blitzing the basket for 22 points in the first half, the Pirates moved to a 35-27 lead at half. CPS' Isadore Washington came off the bench with three minutes remaining in the first half and held Washburn to only one field goal and one free throw for the remainder of the contest. Nevertheless Washburn took top scoring honors for the game with 25 points.

At the beginning of the second half, CPS, with George Dixon and Boyd Lyle hitting frequently, went ahead 43-42. The lead changed hands and then with three seconds remaining the Loggers had a one-point lead.

Bill Demick was high for CPS with 20 points. Boyd Lyle scored 15 and Dixon and Washington netted 8 each to pace the Logger offense.

Eastern Whips Loggers

The Eastern Washington Savages, with the help of a late first half scoring spree, handed the College of Puget Sound its second straight Evergreen Conference defeat 69-52 at Cheney.

The only time CPS led in the contest was early in the first half, 8-3 and 11-8. The Savages tied the score at 15-15 with seven minutes left in the half. Then Eastern outscored the Loggers 16-3 to take a commanding 31-18 lead at the half. Dick Koford was the big spark in the Savage scoring exhibition.

Although the Tacomans controlled the boards, the axemen were unable to get closer than 14 points. CPS pulled off 51 rebounds as compared to 42 for Eastern. Sudman grabbed 20 while Ness had 13.

The Savages made 24 of 62 from the field for a .387 percentage. CPS hit only 18 of 61 for a meager .295 percentage. Koford and Roland DeBoer hit 14 each to lead the Eastern attack. Washington and Sudman had 14 and 11 respectively for the Loggers.

CPS Mermen Pull Upset Over UBC Swimmers 56-29

The CPS swimming team upset the defending conference champions from UBC, 56-29, Friday night in the CPS pool. It was the first conference competition for both teams in a meet which produced six pool records, five by the Loggers and one by UBC. It was also the first conference dual meet which the Thunderbirds have lost in several years.

In the first event, the CPS 400-meter relay team of Gary Rasmussen, Jerry Hartley, Kimo Streeter, and Jack Falskow outswam a fast UBC team to set a pool record which had previously been held by UBC. This record-breaking performance set the pace for the rest of the meet.

After that, pool records were set by Streeter in the 200 butterfly, Gary Rasmussen in the 400-meter freestyle, Jerry Hartley in the 200 breaststroke, and the CPS 400-meter freestyle relay of Jack Falskow, Rhett Kirk, Bob Harris and Ron Jones. Bunny Gilchrist of UBC broke the old pool record in the 200 backstroke.

The closest race of the meet was the 50-meter freestyle, with Rhett Kirk touching out Bob Harris of CPS and Berno of UBC. Harris and Berno finished in a dead heat, with Berno picked for 2nd, and Harris for 3rd.

Ron Jones did an excellent job in winning the diving over Pete Pellatt, who placed 3rd in last year's conference championship meet. Jones swims the freestyle and has had little time to practice on the board.

Freshmen Dennis Yuen and John Seremeta showed much improvement in the meet. Yuen led for 3 laps of the 100 freestyle before tiring on the last lap and taking 3rd. Seremeta, in his first backstroke race, took 2nd in the 200 back.

Vic Holme, who should be among the top breaststrokers of the conference this year, led the field for the part of the 200 breast until he got a mouthful of water instead of air and settled for 2nd place.

The team showed the results of months of hard work in beating virtually the same team which defeated the Loggers by a lop-sided score here last year. The teams meet again on Feb. 28 in Vancouver in what should be a good rematch.

The next home meet will be against Western on Jan. 21.

Earl Ellis, team co-captain, swam exhibition races in the 200 and 400 meters, bettering the conference records by many seconds in each race. Ellis, a transfer, will

Weeks Wins Badminton Title for Third Year

Shortly before Christmas vacation, Carol Weeks defeated Cecile Wilden, 11-5 and 11-9, to claim the women's singles badminton trophy for the third straight year.

As a freshman, Miss Weeks lost her first game in a double elimination tournament, but came back to win the title. Last year she again won the trophy over a field of 23 players. Miss Weeks is a junior from Marysville, Washington.

The singles badminton tourney this year was on a double elimination basis and was held from Dec. 2-11. Twelve women participated.

The women's doubles single elimination tournament was completed this week. Barbara Simpson and Elaine Klein won from a field of six teams.

Seen and Reviewed

By JOHN KELIHER

An appreciative audience filled the CPS Recital hall last Friday evening to witness the Contemporary American Music Concert sponsored by Sigma Alpha Iota and Phi Mu Alpha Sinfonia. It was an unquestionable success.

Those familiar with the great white eye—i.e. television—may have observed the discussion on "Small World" re. the responsibility for producing modern works. It does not matter at the moment what Sir Thomas Beecham, Maria Callas or Victor Borge had to say on the matter; the music students of CPS have done something about the problem—they presented the music of current composers.

Melvin Sipe gave a magnificent performance of Dr. Leroy Ostransky's "Sonata for Violin Solo." Ostransky's brilliance as a composer is only equalled by his ability as a teacher, if Miss Sharlene Armitage's "Sonata for Bassoon and Clarinet" is any example.

The intricately blended themes of the Armitage Sonata, constructed, I believe, on a 12-toned scale, were masterly rendered by Raymond Wheeler and William Wohlmacher.

"Partita for Wind Quintet" by Irving Fine won an enthusiastic response from the audience. It was brilliantly done, and the musicians who played so ably received just recognition.

Miss Boyca Dinkov and Miss Enid Leibinger performed a difficult work, "Aria and Toccata for Two Pianos" by Norman Dello Joio, with ease and dispatch. Their timing was excellent.

David de Wolfe sang only three selections, which is to be lamented. He possesses a most pleasing baritone and demonstrated a fine vocal range.

Miss Florence Johnson again gave evidence of her great singing voice. In a buffet prepared by Leonard Bernstein—"La Bonne Cuisine"—Miss Johnson displayed her talent as an actress as well as a musician of the highest caliber. Her versatility and ability merit greater attention but I feel quite inadequate for the task.

Richard Koehler, who directed the chorale, capped a delightful evening with stereophonic sound. Not only was the music unique, it was splendid. Mr. Koehler did an admirable job and is to be congratulated, as are all the members of the chorale, for greatness of the final selection—Odes of Horace, sung in Latin.

I cannot praise all of these splendid musicians too highly. But I am sure that I only echo the sentiments of the many persons who heard them, when I try to do so. I only wish that I were competent to judge their merits, which are, no doubt, far above the value I have set upon them. As it is, they may have been much better than I have said they were, and on the other hand, they may have been much worse.

Losing Loggers Face SPC; Search for Right Combo

The College of Puget Sound will take a break from Evergreen Conference basketball action tonight to meet the Seattle Pacific College Falcons in Seattle.

The non-league affair will give CPS Coach John Heinrich more time to find 'the right combination' before his charges return to the Evergreen schedule. The Logger mentor has experimented with his lineup all season long in an effort to improve the Loggers' winning potential.

Which lineup Coach Heinrich will use tonight still remains doubtful, since only two men—Demick and Sudman—have managed to stay on the top five in most of the games. Friday night George Dixon and Hal Ness were at forwards; Dick Ballard and Demick were at guards; and Sudman was at center. Saturday night Dixon and Sudman were the forwards; Demick and Washington were the guards, and Lyle was the center. Bob McDonald and Jerry Hoxsey both have also started several games.

The local lads will return to the Evergreen circuit Wednesday night when they host the University of British Columbia at the fieldhouse. The Loggers split two-game series with the Thunderbirds in Vancouver recently.

On Friday night Western will host the crew in Bellingham for a conference tilt. The Viking handed CPS an overtime defeat in the first game of the season.

As of last weekend games Central, Eastern and Pacific Lutheran appeared to be the powerhouses of the league. CPS, Western, Whitworth and UBC all appear nearly equal, so the battle to escape the conference cellar should be a hectic one.
